

SCENES IN THE COURTROOM

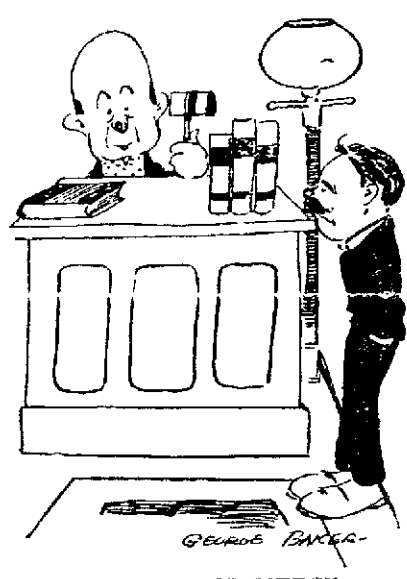

BY GEORGE O. BAKER.

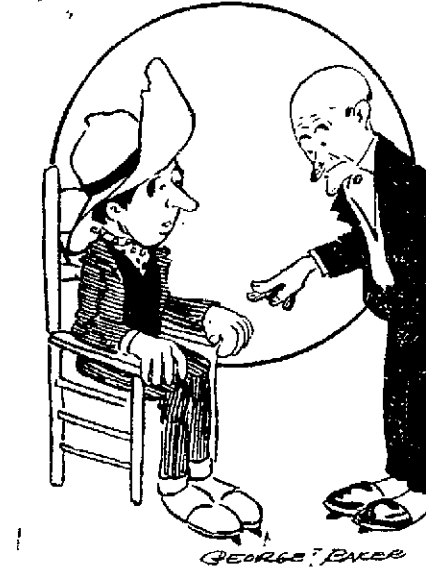

TOO MUCH OF A BAD THING. Judge—You are regarded as one of the shrewdest confidence men in the country, and yet you are here. Prisoner—Yes, I guess it was a case of over-confidence, Your Honor.

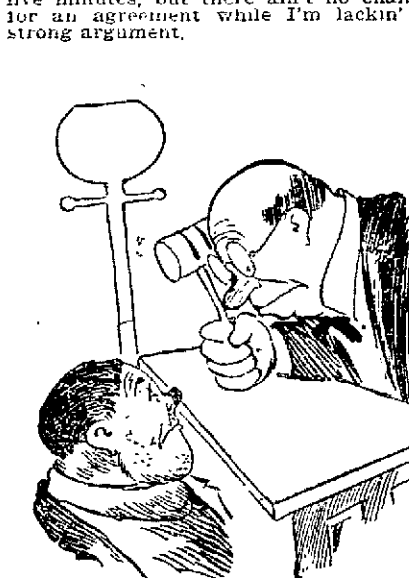

NO CHANCE TO AGREE. Judge—And is there no chance for an agreement? Foreman of the Jury (rising)—Waal, if Your Honor will give me back the gun that was taken from me when we was locked up, I reckon I kin bring these here 12 onery critters to a time in less than five minutes, but there ain't no chance for an agreement while I'm lackin' a strong argument.

APPEAL FOR MERCY. Judge—Have you anything to say why sentence should not be passed on you? Bigamist—Just think of my family's judge.

NO CHANCE FOR A MISTAKE. Prosecuting Attorney—You are willing to swear that it was the prisoner at the bar who fired the fatal shot? Witness—Yes, Your Honor, I could not be mistaken! There was only 16 fellows shooting at the time, so I could easily keep track of them!

GAVE HIMSELF AWAY. Judge—The witness positively identifies you as the burglar. Daring Bill—How could he identify me when he had his head covered up in the bedclothing all the time?

PLEADS IGNORANCE. Judge—How did you come to get drunk? Defendant—Faith, Your Honor, O'm not to blame. O! didn't know what O! was doin'. Judge—You didn't? How was that? Defendant—Well, ye see, sor, O! was under th' influence of liquor when O! started.

AMUSEMENTS

THE PUNKIN' HUSKERS.
Another large audience assembled at the Auditorium last night to witness a performance of the "Punkin' Husker" by the Murray Comedy company, and they were well paid for the time and money spent, as it was strictly first class. Miss Dorothy Smith and Edwin Carruthers in the leading parts were exceptionally clever, and the entire company seemed just suited for their respective parts. The specialties were all of a high order. Tonight they present one of their strongest plays, entitled "A Convict's Wife," with a complete change of specialties and moving pictures. Starting today they will give a matinee daily at 2:15.

AT TAYLOR HALL

Frederick Warde's Lecture on Shakespeare and His Plays Enjoyed Last Night.

An immense congregation of literary students, and especially the lovers of Shakespeare, filled Taylor hall to its capacity Tuesday night to hear Frederick Warde's lecture on Shakespeare and His Plays.

To say that Mr. Warde's lecture was pleasing would be stating it mildly. He delighted his audience and held its closest attention throughout the entire two hours. He covered every point of Shakespeare's writings, using his greater efforts in opposing the Baconian theory, supporting his opinions with the proofs that are advanced by most students who believe that Bacon was not the author of the works accredited to Shakespeare.

Special attention was given to the poetry, Christianity and philosophy embodied in the writings, and numerous passages of beauty were read by the actor-lecturer in his impressive style with rich tone, and accuracy of shading and gesture.

Mr. Warde made a good impression on his audience and it is safe to venture that not one left the hall who would not willingly have listened for another hour.

The next number on the course is the Welsh Prize Singers, who will appear here on October 25.

THORNS AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

In the new Rowland & Clifford production, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms," which will be seen at the Auditorium Monday, October 8, there is much that is of true democratic worth and given by a company that brings out the production in a most interesting manner. "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" was adapted from Bertha Clay's novel of the same name. The piece has one tragic situation, which occurs early in the play, but it is forgotten in the events that crowd one another and go to make up one of the best constructed and interesting stories that has ever been presented on tour. The play is full of good lines that strike home, has a lot of excellent business, and the situations and climaxes are well brought out.

THE GREATER LOVE.

In the forthcoming production of "The Greater Love" which will be seen at the Auditorium soon with Aubrey Boucicault, Grace Reals and fifty other well known players in the cast, an opportunity will be afforded the theater goers of this city to see the Madison Square theater success which has taken Mozart, the great composer, as the central figure for a dramatic offering.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, Oct. 3.—Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison University, is very much in demand, both inside and outside of Ohio. He starts Thursday for Minnesota, where he speaks at the Minneapolis Baptist Social Union on Friday, and preaches on Sunday in Minneapolis in the morning and at Owatonna that evening. On the Monday following he addresses the students of Pillsbury Academy. He will then attend the Minnesota Baptist State convention. On Thursday, Oct. 11, he will speak at the Indiana Baptist State convention at Kokomo, Ind., where he will deliver the annual address before the Indiana Baptist Educational society. The following week he will deliver three addresses before the West Virginia Baptist convention at Clarksburg, and the week after he will address the Pennsylvania Convention and the Ohio Convention at the First Baptist church of Cleveland.

The number of pupils enrolled at the Conservatory this year is very large, and new arrivals are noted continually. Many of the classes are so crowded that new sections need to be formed. Already the impetus given by the presence of Prof. Wood, the new teacher in theoretical branches is being felt.

George Seaman has been spending a few days in Granville before returning to school at Crozier Theological Seminary.

At a recent meeting the Mandolin Club was organized with Professor Wood as director. There are still chances for a number of men with mandolins and guitars.

Miss Grace Young of Columbus, and Miss Mary Owen of Newark spent Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wright on College street.

Lawrence Hammond, a prominent young attorney of Cleveland, was in the village Tuesday on business.

Mr. John Prouty left Wednesday morning for Noble county to look after his farming interests there.

Thomas Mount of Fairfield county was here Tuesday.

The Village Council met in regular session Tuesday night with all members present with the exception of Messrs. Harry J. Thomas and Edward Hutshier, with President J. M. Jones in the chair. No business, however, other than routine, was transacted, and the meeting adjourned to the call of the president.

MRS. J. B. DAUGHERTY.

Granville, O., Oct. 3.—The sad intelligence was received here of the death of Mrs. Jeanette Evans Daugherty, wife of Dr. J. B. Daugherty, which occurred at the home in New Berlin Tuesday morning at 4:40 o'clock, after an illness of only a short time with typhoid fever, aged 26 years. The deceased was a daughter of Thomas and Mary Evans, both of whom are deceased, and a granddaughter of Mrs. Ralph Granger of this place. She was born in the old Granger house, corner of Pearl and Broadway, and here it was that she was married and where the funeral will eventually be held. The deceased is survived by her husband, Dr. J. B. Daugherty, who is convalescing from a severe attack of typhoid fever. The remains will be brought from Canton to Newark on Thursday and placed in the vault at Cedar Hill cemetery, where they will remain until Dr. Daugherty sufficiently recovers to attend the funeral services when they will be held at the home of Mrs. Granger.

The deceased was a graduate of the Granville High School and she also attended Shepardson College for several years when she entered the Protestant hospital at Columbus, from which institution she graduated as a trained nurse. She was married to Dr. Daugherty in November of 1904. She was a young woman who was loved by all who know her and her untimely death will be greatly mourned.

A REASONABLE PLEA FOR THE STOMACH

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Pepsin Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London. Telephone No. 11029 Central. 20 Cullum St., Fenchurch St. E. C.

London, 9th Aug., 1905.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose) manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Temple Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed) John R. Brooke, F. I. C. F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package or send us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 64 Temple Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

That Delightful Aid to Health Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic

A new medicinal powder to be dissolved in warm water and used in local treatment of mucous membrane affections.

Paxtine cures nasal catarrh, uterine catarrh caused by feminine ills, sore throat, sore mouth, and inflamed eyes by removing the inflamed, ulcerated and catarrhal conditions; thus it destroys all disease germs, checks discharges, stops pain and heals the soreness.

You cannot cure these mucous membrane troubles by dosing the stomach, but you can cure them by local treatment with Paxtine because it possesses extraordinary cleansing, germicidal and healing qualities unlike anything else. Thousands of persons testify to this fact, and one of our trial size boxes will convince anyone.

As a toilet requisite Paxtine is unequalled for whitening the teeth, removing the germs of decay, and purifying mouth and breath. Only Fifty Cents a large box at

S.S.S. EXPELS BLOOD HUMORS

Itching, disfiguring eruptions, rashes, boils, etc., as well as pimples, black-heads and rough, scaly skins, show the presence of some irritating humor in the blood. These acids and humors with which the blood is filled are being constantly thrown off through the pores and glands, and the skin is kept in a feverish, diseased and unsightly condition. Nothing applied externally can change the condition of the blood or prevent the outflow of poisons and acids; only constitutional treatment can do this. The countless washes, salves, lotions, etc., that are used cannot reach the humor-laden blood and are, therefore, useless, except for the temporary comfort and cleanliness they afford. The acid poison in the blood, which is the cause of the trouble, must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. is a real blood purifier, possessing all the requirements to neutralize and remove the humor from the circulation. It completely eradicates every trace of the poison and restores this vital fluid to its natural state of purity. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated blood so that instead of pouring out acid matter on the skin it feeds and nourishes it with health-sustaining properties, and the eruptions and diseases of the skin pass away. Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from suffering cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

We regret to lose this family as they are splendid neighbors and very prominent in church circles.

Race Feeling Causes Strike. Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—The color line was sharply drawn at the Wege marble works by 70 white men, who quit work because of the employment of negroes, leaving 40 at work. The "going out" was perfectly orderly, but without notice to the management. The firm says that being in great need of rubbers, and unable to secure others, the firm heard of some colored men in Tennessee who were experienced in rubbing stone and brought them here. They arrived Monday and went to work Tuesday. The white men promptly laid down their tools and walked out. The firm said no notice of their intention was given, and the whole thing was a surprise.

T. B. Fulton, Candidate for Common Pleas Judge.

T. B. Fulton was born at Homer, Licking county, Ohio, June 11, 1851. He was educated at the District school, the Utica High school and at Denison University, Granville. After completion of his course of study Mr. Fulton taught the Homer High school and was also in charge of the district school near Fredericktown, Knox county. Later Mr. Fulton read law with General G. W. Morgan at Mt. Vernon and was admitted to the bar in the year 1879. He formed a partnership with General Morgan, afterwards came to Newark and formed a partnership with the late Joel M. Dennis, was deputy County Clerk under A. R. Brown and then joined Hon. T. E. Powell in forming a law partnership, moving to Marysville, Union county, where he resided for eight years. Mr. Fulton returned to Licking county in 1883, and with his brother, W. D. Fulton, formed the partnership of Fulton & Fulton, which still continues as one of the live successful law firms of the city. In 1897 Mr. Fulton was elected City Solicitor of Newark which office he creditably filled for a term of four years.

nership with General Morgan, afterwards came to Newark and formed a partnership with the late Joel M. Dennis, was deputy County Clerk under A. R. Brown and then joined Hon. T. E. Powell in forming a law partnership, moving to Marysville, Union county, where he resided for eight years. Mr. Fulton returned to Licking county in 1883, and with his brother, W. D. Fulton, formed the partnership of Fulton & Fulton, which still continues as one of the live successful law firms of the city. In 1897 Mr. Fulton was elected City Solicitor of Newark which office he creditably filled for a term of four years.

This in brief is a sketch of one of the Democratic candidates for Common Pleas Judge.

Thomas B. Fulton is a self-made man, a man of the people whose talents have enabled him to obtain a high standing in his profession. Possessed of a splendid education in the common schools, supplemented by university training and a thorough course of legal study, Mr. Fulton was well fitted to begin the practice of law of which profession he has made a gratifying success. Thoroughly conscientious, always alert to the interests of his client, ever ready to do by honorable means anything to promote the welfare of his cause in court, Mr. Fulton has achieved an enviable reputation as a trial lawyer and as a counsellor he has few equals at the Licking county bar.

In every way Mr. Fulton is well qualified to serve as a Common Pleas Judge. Possessed of a calm temperament, a well developed judicial mind and endowed with an unusual amount of good common sense, Mr. Fulton's friends are anticipating his elevation to the Common Pleas bench with pleasure, knowing as they do that he will establish a reputation as a Judge.

Mr. Fulton is personally popular and is widely known throughout the whole district as he has spent practically his whole life within the borders of two of the three counties in this district.

A vote for Mr. Fulton will not be misplaced.

Republican Tariff Reform Candidate.

Congressman Babcock, former chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign committee, is a candidate for re-election in his Wisconsin district. He has issued an address to the voters of his district in which he repudiates the Republican stand-pat doctrine and declares himself for tariff revision. He expresses the belief that tariff revision is the thing of "overshadowing importance" and "absolutely necessary." But what does such an expression of belief amount to in face of Babcock's record as the chairman of the congressional campaign committee of his party two years ago when he conducted a stand-pat campaign? Babcock was on record as a tariff reformer before conducting the campaign referred to, but in that campaign he excused the trust practice of selling in foreign markets at lower prices than charged in the home market by saying that it was a law of trade not to demoralize the home market. Babcock was renominated by a very small margin this year, which indicates that the Republicans of his district have little faith in his tariff reform professions viewed in the light of his actions.

SMYSER-SAUERS DEAL.

By Which the Republican Nominations for Congress and Circuit Judge Were Manipulated.

(Wooster Daily News.)

Judge Smyser was nominated for Congress two years ago by the grace and by the cunning of E. S. Sauers of New Philadelphia. The compact was to nominate Glenn of Coshocton for Common Pleas Judge against Samuel Nicholas in order to get the vote out in Coshocton. E. S. Sauers then when the way had been cleared was to be nominated for Circuit court judge against that able Democrat, Maurice Donahue. Sauers planned the whole scheme and the others assisted in carrying it out.

Who is Sauers is daily asked by men who do not know. In reply we will say that the best way to find out is to ask any lawyer practicing at the Wayne county bar except those who are actively engaged in Republican politics. They will tell you right out in meeting that Mr. Sauers is as incompetent to sit as Circuit Judge as Satan is to walk down the Golden streets of the new Jerusalem.

Even many of the Republican delegates that nominated Mr. Sauers will not vote for him and the reason for it is that he is incompetent.

His business is being the head of

Hood's
Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the greatest blood and liver medicine known. It positively and permanently cures every humor, from Pimples to Scrofula. It is the Best Blood Medicine.

the Tuscarawas County Republican machine. He forced his nomination because of that fact and the delegates had to walk up and take their medicine.

Sauers ought to have been nominated for justice of the peace in some rural township rather than for Circuit judge.

His opponent is Maurice Donahue on the Democratic ticket. There is not a lawyer in Wayne county but who will tell you that he is the ablest Circuit Judge in Ohio today. Republican lawyers who know Judge Donahue's qualifications state openly that they will support him and this is true in every county in the Circuit. Sauers hopes to slip through because of the Republican majority in the circuit.

WHAT SMYSER ACTUALLY DID FOR PENSIONERS

To the Advocate—The article from the Coshocton Times in Saturday's Advocate, states that the extent of Smyser's commendable work in Congress was the securing of only eight special pensions. What does this mean? The old soldiers do not all understand the meaning of a special pension, as this special work will no doubt be held up to show Mr. Smyser's friendships for the soldier, but the facts are that a special pension is a political kite flown to catch the soldier vote. A special pension is always brought up in a star chamber session in Congress, and passed without any investigation by the United States Pension Department. The department will and has always turned down such applications as they do not come under the general pension laws. Let the men behind the guns look into this matter and they will find that this is special legislation for officers and rich widows of officers, and men whose records were not sufficient to receive a pension in the regular way.

QUESTIONS

For Secretary Shaw and Congressman Smyser to Answer Tomorrow Night.

Will Secretary Shaw and Congressman Smyser please answer the following queries tomorrow night?

Are all the duties prescribed in the Dingley tariff just what they ought to be under present conditions, or ought some of them to be revised in the interest of justice and fairness?

If there are any such duties, why did not the Republican Congress revise them? And why will not the Republican party even promise such revision?

Do you consider it good policy and wise statesmanship to turn a deaf ear to all complaints against the present tariff duties until such time as the country demands a general revision?

Why should a tariff law be deemed so sacred that none of its defects or inequalities or injustices are to be remedied, or even considered by the party in power, until the interests fostered and sustained by it give their consent?

Is there any reasonable ground for expecting relief from any of the inequalities and burdens of the present tariff as long as its beneficiaries are expected to contribute so liberally to the campaign funds of the Republican party?

WINDOW GLASS

Will be Manufactured by Company Organized in Columbus by Mr. J. M. Ickes and Others.

Columbus, Oct. 3.—The Capital Window Glass company, whose capital is $150,000, will be incorporated today by the following: J. M. Ickes, A. M. Shoemaker, R. M. White, J. W. Coulson, O. H. Mithoff, Eben S. Baird, W. J. Davidson, Albert Zettler, E. M. McCann. By February 1 the company expects to begin operations. It will manufacture window glass. As the company has planned to conduct a business aggregating $500,000 annually and to have a pay roll of $25,000 monthly, its inauguration means much to local industrial interests. At least 250 men, 150 of whom are to be skilled mechanics, will be employed and the product of the factory will be 10 car loads of finished work each week. As a number of local jobbers and dealers are associated with the company, Columbus is expected to furnish a market for 50 per cent of the output. Associated with the management will be J. M. Ickes, ex-Newark postmaster, who formerly was secretary of the Mt. Vernon Glass company. E. M. McCann who for 20 years has been identified with the glass business in Indiana, will be superintendent of the plant. There is now no window glass factory here.

SAM'L HOSKINS EXPRESSES VIEWS

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE WROTE LETTER TO FITZWATER OF DELAWARE.

Democratic Text Book "Equal Rights to All, Special Privileges to None."

Waponaeta, O., Oct. 3.—In reply to a request for a statement of his views on temperance questions, Samuel A. Hoskins, Democratic candidate for secretary of state of Ohio, sent the following letter to Dr. J. H. Fitzwater of Delaware, O.: "In reply to your recent inquiry made on behalf of some of your friends with reference to how I stand on certain moral questions that have been and are being discussed in this campaign, I will say that I know so far as you are personally concerned you are aware of the position I have taken in these matters for many years past. I am a Democrat, and as such believe firmly in the doctrine of home rule. This leads logically to the initiative and referendum, and I need not say that as a Democrat I firmly believe in this doctrine, and that it should be applied to political and moral questions alike. Speaking from my personal convictions on the subject, will say that I believe the liquor question should be subjected to the same tests that are applied to other public questions. From the same convictions, will further say that I think each political unit, municipality, township or county should decide this question for itself. Perhaps I can state the matter more concisely by saying that we should not recede one step from the advanced moral ground taken by the late Governor Pattison, and I stand for every moral and political reform for which he stood, including the declaration for county local option made in his inaugural address. Entertaining these convictions, I am glad to comply with your request and let you know how I personally stand."

Democratic Text Book.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Bearing the motto, "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none," on its title page, the Democratic campaign book for use in the approaching congressional campaign was issued by the Democratic congressional committee. It is one of the most voluminous of any similar publication heretofore gotten out, being composed of 243 pages, and containing a vast amount of matter designed to combat the claims and policies of the Republican party, while at the same time it upholds principles for which Democracy contends. After quoting in full the platform adopted by the national Democratic convention at St. Louis in 1904, the book enters into an exhaustive discussion of the tariff question along the lines of the party's well known tariff policy. The trust question is handled in a similar manner. A ship subsidy is opposed. Among other subjects treated are the insurance scandals and campaign contributions, railway rate legislation, and various features of President Roosevelt's administration.

HIPPLE SEES DIVORCE

Delaware, Oct. 3.—Randolph Hipple has brought suit for divorce from Florence Hipple, whom he met and married three summers ago at Bellevue. It was a case of love at first sight. About a year ago they took up their residence at Lorain and in the early summer the woman met a young man with whom she became infatuated. Several weeks later she created a sensation by concealing herself in his room, and upon discovery declared that she intended to shoot him, as she could not live without him.

Cosgrove, representative from Muskingum county, is president of the Union. George H. Stewart, vice president of the First National, is critically ill in Washington, D. C., from appendicitis.

DENTISTS BANKRUPT.

Growing Use of Nature Foods Killing the Dentists' Practice.

When you sit in the dentist's chair and feel the drill gnaw right down to the nerve, do you ever stop to wonder how your poor ancestors bore that pain 200 years ago, when the only instrument was the forceps and they didn't take gas?

Don't waste your time wondering. Our forefathers lived close to Nature. They didn't have their meals called off in French, sandwiched between times with munchings of bitter sweets and a thousand other dainties.

If we but knew the secret of a bankrupt dentist and a depleted medical practice in general, we would take time to consider the cause.

If the forces at work upon those teeth of yours, the hardest structure in your body, can get the results they accomplish down in the inner and more delicate organisms? What of the stomach, the bowels, the brain and the nerves, subjected day and night to the most frightful tasks of digestion and assimilation of so-called "food," the carrying off of waste tissue and the supplying of vigor and action to the body? Are you doing anything to protect yourself?

Take away the cause! Use moderation and judgment in your demands upon your stomach, for there is the center from which all pain or soundness springs. It's the stomach that feeds the bones, the muscles, the nerves and the brain. If you feel your strength giving out and don't know the cause, your stomach will point it out. Undoubtedly you are giving it an ill proportioned or crammed diet.

Wheat and barley alone contain all the elements necessary to the normal constitution: muscle heat, brain and nerve producers are found in the grain of wheat and barley in the exact proportion required for a robust body. Any variance from this diet means not only wasted energy but sure injury to some vital organ.

The natural food is Hardyfood—made of selected grains combined in such proportions as will properly nourish the whole system.

Hardyfood builds bone and muscle, tempers the body feeds the brain and settles and strengthens the nerves. It is food for the laborer and the office man. It builds up the tissues of the young and restores strength to the old.

Hardyfood is a delightfully pure and satisfying dish that the stomach looks forward to. You can't tire of Hardyfood because it can be served in so many different ways. Eaten dry, or with cream and fruit juices it is delicious. Served hot from the oven or cooked as porridge, if desired, it is equally appetizing.

Cut down your doctor's bills and live normally. Try Hardyfood at your grocer's. It costs only a dime. Isn't it worth the price to get started right?

FALL OF FAGIN FROM OFFICE

REASONS GIVEN FOR REMOVAL OF MARSHAL BY THE PRESIDENT.

Too Active in Politics—Former Auditor of Hamilton County May be Successor.

(Bulletin.)

Washington, Oct. 3.—Eugene Lewis will succeed Vivian Fagin as United States marshal for the southern district of Ohio. The appointment was officially announced this morning.

Mr. Lewis was recommended for the position by Senator Foraker.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Reasons for the removal of Vivian J. Fagin of Cincinnati as United States marshal for the southern district of Ohio by order of the president are to be found in a report made to the president by the civil service commission after investigating charges that Fagin took too active a part in politics. The removal of B. F. O'Neal as marshal of the western district of Louisiana was ordered on the ground of unfitness.

A report on Fagin's case to the president by Attorney General Moody was made public. The report was in the form of a communication from Henry F. Greene of the civil service commission, which says in part: "It appears from the evidence that Mr. Fagin until recently has been an active ally of the Republican organization of the city of Cincinnati, commonly known as the 'Cox Machine.' All of the witnesses against Mr. Fagin whose testimony is at all material in this investigation have been active supporters of this organization. Fagin apparently declared war on the Cox organization, or on its leaders, Cox, Hynicka, Herrman and others. Thereupon a very bitter state of feeling developed between the leaders of the organization, and Mr. Fagin and those who testified against Mr. Fagin probably were induced so to do because of their being supporters of the regular organization. It can not be denied that many of these witnesses are individuals whose testimony would be received in any court with caution, and according to Mr. Fagin's statement they are almost without exception a lot of professional criminals or aiders, abettors and supporters of professional criminals. Nevertheless there are certain facts in this case which do not depend in the least on the testimony of any one of the enemies of Mr. Fagin and which, in the judgment of the commission, indicate past violations of section 11 of the civil service act by him which are too remote in time to be punished by the courts, but which are not too remote to call for the removal of Mr. Fagin from office."

The testimony given before Greene by Mr. Gardner, chief deputy for Fagin, apparently calls for disciplinary action on the part of the department. Gardner states that Fagin not only was "in the habit of collecting money from all of the men in his office for political purposes, but also that he was in the habit of forcing them, or at least of forcing Gardner to divide his salary with him, Gardner getting $100 a month and Fagin $50. If Gardner's story, which has not been submitted to Mr. Fagin for contradiction, is true, a serious offense is disclosed. If not true, the action of Mr. Gardner certainly calls for his removal."

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 3.—Eugene L. Lewis, former auditor of Hamilton county, is said to be the man selected to succeed Vivian J. Fagin as United States marshal. Lewis has an immense following here, and is a member of nearly every lodge and organization to which he is eligible.

CHINKS MUST GO

Or There Will Be Revival of Drastic Means to Move Them.

Eureka, Cal., Oct. 3.—At a mass meeting of prominent citizens and union labor leaders here it was decided that 27 Chinese brought here by the Tallant company of Astoria, Ore., to work in a salmon cannery at the mouth of the Eel river, must go. The people of the county are aroused and the scenes enacted Feb. 13, 1885, when the Chinese were driven out of this city and county for killing a citizen as the result of a highbinder war, may be re-enacted. It is said that the Tallant company, which operates the cannery, declares its intention to call on the governor for militia if any demonstration is made against the Chinese.

LINGAFELTER TRIAL

having frequently seen the handwriting of James Lingafelter, he had numerous opportunities of familiarizing himself with handwriting. The witness identified the writing of Lingafelter on the body of certain receipts. When shown the name of James Cornican, claimed to be a forgery, he stated that it bore a certain resemblance to Lingafelter's writing. In comparing the original and one purporting to be a forgery, the witness stated that in his opinion there was no question but that they were written by different parties, stating that the false signature resembling Mr. Lingafelter's writing, bearing its general characteristics.

Cross-examination was conducted by Mr. Phil Searthe. "Are you an expert on handwriting?" "Well, I have seen many thousand signatures." "Were you ever mistaken?" "O, yes. That's possible." "You were mistaken once, weren't you?" "Well, I don't know."

E. C. Wright, cashier of the First National bank, stated that for 17 years he had been in the banking business and had had many opportunities of studying handwriting and had frequently seen Lingafelter's handwriting on certificates, drafts, etc. In examining the James Cornican signature the witness said that Mr. Lingafelter made a different "C" than the one in the name Cornican. He further stated, in comparing the original with the purported forgery, that there were many characteristics of Mr. Lingafelter's writing.

In cross-examination the witness stated that had a signature bearing such a resemblance to Mr. Lingafelter's writing been presented at his window he should have questioned it. Mr. T. O. Donovan, president for two years and a director of the Newark Trust company, stated for two years he was a director in the Homestead Building Association, and had frequently seen Mr. Lingafelter's handwriting. A number of receipts and papers on Lingafelter's writing, which he readily identified. The questioned signature was shown the witness and he stated that it was in Lingafelter's handwriting.

On cross-examination Mr. Donovan stated that Lingafelter had three ways of writing and holding the pen. One, he said, was by holding the pen perpendicular to the paper. Another was a gliding hand, while a third was by making one letter at a time.

"You wouldn't venture to say, then, any further than that this appeared to be a concealed handwriting?"

"Part of these letters are not concealed."

"Which ones do you refer to?"

"The 'T' is just like the way he made an 'F.'"

Following Mr. Donovan, William G. Pengelly, handwriting expert of Columbus, O., testified for the State, employed at Capital City Bank for past 20 years. Auditor during past year. Made a specialty of the examination of questioned documents, including checks, etc. Been called in courts and 50 cases called him to court. Been called into United States court of Ohio, throughout Ohio, Kentucky, Wisconsin and made examinations in the Patrick-Rice murder case, New York. "Have you made an examination of Mr. Lingafelter's handwriting?"

"Yes, sir, I have."

The questioned signatures were shown the witness, including order 2467 to James Cornican, June 13, 1900, receipt No. 4467 (the one in question) was shown and an analysis of the signature of the questioned receipt was made.

"First I took into consideration the example of Mr. Lingafelter's writing and I notice in the writing a number of disconnected letters. In every person's handwriting the specific features remain prominent, while the expression changes."

"The first thing I considered the relation of the bottom of the letters to the baseline. Mr. Lingafelter pays little attention to the baseline. The second, was the slant. I find in the letter 'c' in Cornican conforms very closely to the habit in producing the standard."

"The entire signature lacks the animation of a genuine, automatic signature. When a man forges a signature he has to keep in mind two things: the characteristics of the owner of the name and the avoidance of his own characteristics. The dot over the 'i' and the cross over the 't' bear shading and slant characteristic of the standard."

Not on one of these points alone, but on the combined points do I place my judgment and reach this conclusion."

By Mr. Owen:

"What are your duties?"

"To see that the discounts are correct."

"When did you start to study this business?"

"Some years ago. I began the collection of autographs. That became known and persons began to bring disputed writings to me. Then about 8 years ago I first appeared upon the witness stand."

At this point the court adjourned for noon.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The cross-examination of Mr. Pengelly was resumed with questions regarding the extent of his study of the subject of disputed handwriting. He stated that his method was by comparison entirely. He was asked if he ever made a mistake. The witness answered that, while he might have done so, he did not know of having made any mistakes in his analysis. Attorney Owen for the defense, then called the attention of the witness to the fact that during the Robert Lingafelter case, he had made a mistake in copying a part of one of the signatures on a blackboard before the jury. The witness attempted to explain the cause of the mistake but was told by the attorney that he was not asked for an explanation.

The cross-examination of this witness was a tedious technical affair and consumed a considerable time. The witness left the stand at 1:35.

William Roller was called but was not present. Next was George P. Webb.

At this point a part of the defense's witnesses were called and sworn.

David H. Pizz was the first of the defense's witnesses called. He stated that he was familiar with the defendant's handwriting and when shown the questioned signature stated that he did not believe it to be Lingafelter's writing.

Attorney Edw. Kibler conducted the cross-examination for the State and questioned the witness closely regarding the handwriting on the body of the questioned orders and receipts, and on the recent stubs.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Trilly was the next witness called. He stated that he had known the defendant for at least 20 years and was familiar with his writing. The witness observed the disputed receipt, No. 4467, and stated that the signature, "James Cornican," was not written by Mr. Lingafelter.

On cross-examination he stated that the word "Lime" was written plainly, exactly opposite to the style of the "James" in a letter written by the defendant. He was asked if he did not see a difference in the writing of the word "Lime" and "Cornican." The witness answered that it was true that they were not written exactly alike. He was shown the letters in which the word "James" was disconnected in Lingafelter's writing of the name. He stated that it was true that he had noticed that characteristic before but that the signature generally did not resemble Lingafelter's writing.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER
THE ALL-
IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are considering your private life to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impedes them to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America, which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has drawn from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

Chillicothe, Oct. 3.—The B. & O. S. W. announces that the wages of the blacksmiths in the local shops have been increased one cent, to 30 cents an hour, the machinists one cent, to 31 cents an hour, and the boiler makers two cents, to 32 cents an hour.

Recently the boiler makers in the local shops struck for an increase of two cents, to 32 cents an hour. The company secured non-union laborers, who came in and did the work, being fed, housed and guarded by the company. The boiler makers helpers returned to work and the company declared the strike over, but refused to take back the strikers.

Now the non-union men have been given the increase demanded by the strikers and the company still feeds and houses them.

HARRY S. FULTON IN BIG STORM

A LETTER RECEIVED FROM MOBILE DESCRIBES CONDITIONS IN ALABAMA CITY.

Mr. Fulton Waded in Water Waist Deep From Train—Lost All His Clothing.

Mr. Harry S. Fulton was in Mobile, Ala., during the terrible storm which caused millions of dollars of damage in Mobile, Pensacola and other Southern cities last week. In a letter written to his mother, Mrs. W. N. Fulton, corner Fifth and Locust streets, Mr. Fulton refers to the storm as follows, writing from Mobile under date of September 27:

This by the primitive light of a candle in a city of wreck and ruin, with floods at the door of the hotel, all wires down, no trains for twelve hours past, and no knowledge of the extent of the worst storm that ever swept the Gulf coast. You'll know about the extent of it before I do, I suppose. They say half of Pensacola is gone, all of Gulfport, and a lot of other towns between here and New Orleans, but of course that is all rumor. Mobile is in darkness, the streets full of bricks, tin roofs, timbers, telegraph poles, the park trees nearly all torn to pieces, and all the lower part of the city under water. I got in on a sleeper from Montgomery about 4 a. m. I knew vaguely it had been and was storming, but nobody thought there was any danger. We were down by the L. & W. station in the lowlands, when the high gale developed into a West Indian hurricane.

The roof of the station and half a dozen other buildings went into the air, walls and telegraph poles tumbled all around, the bay and river "backed up," so that in half an hour the water was nearly to the sleeper's steps and rising like old Noah's flood. There were some women and children on the car, refugees from the wrecked depot mostly. I decided to get out while I could, and send the police or fire department to rescue the women and kids. It was lucky I did. I waded through water to my hips for five blocks before I could make dry ground, in a torrent of rain, bricks, tree branches, boards, tin roofs and general debris, found the police, and they with the fire department got out the rest, save two or three chaps, who tried it after I did and had to swim.

My trunks, I believe, are submerged somewhere at the station; cannot tell 'till the water goes down, which it is doing now. Had to go to bed and let my clothes—the only ones I have—dry as much as they would in the wet air, as all the fires in the hotels were drowned out. Truly a pleasant situation! I hope I don't get rheumatism or something out of it, but I feel all right thus far. The negroes started "looting" and the town is under military patrol tonight—no lights and soldiers ordering everybody home and off the streets.

I was in Atlanta Monday night when the negroes "bushwhacked" a detachment of police, killing two. I believe "Some dozens of negroes" "lights went out" as a consequence, and the town was patrolled by soldiers and police with Winchester on their shoulders, when I left. They had a lively little old race riot there for three days, and though the papers tried to make light of it, I understand about a hundred whites and a dozen or so whites were killed. The negroes finally got the fear of God and, the white men into their souls and I guess there will be no more of it for this time, but it is likely to break out again at a moment's notice and sweep the whole black belt. A very vanicky condition obtains all over the south.

Well, this is by way of letting you know that so far I have come through safely. I expect, or rather hope to get out of here for New Orleans tomorrow, unless New Orleans is in as bad case as Mobile, and if the trains are running again.

Don't see now how I can ever hope to get home to the wedding. I'd have to come in pajamas, probably, if I could come at all.

EVENING SKY MAP FOR OCTOBER

By LEON BARRITT FOR THE EVENING TELEGRAM NEW YORK

Oct. MOON PHASES
FULL MOON, Oct. 2.
LAST QUARTER, Oct. 10.
NEW MOON, Oct. 17.
FIRST QUARTER, Oct. 24.
FULL MOON, Oct. 31.

THE ARROW THROUGH THE TWO STARS IN THE BOWL OF THE BIG DIPPER POINTS TO THE NORTH STAR—THE STAR AT THE END OF THE HANDLE OF THE LITTLE DIPPER.

HOLD THE MAP OVER YOUR HEAD—THE TOP NORTH AND YOU WILL SEE THE STARS AND PLANETS JUST AS THEY APPEAR IN THE HEAVENS.

The constellation Lyra, with its beautiful first magnitude star, Vega, is moving westward from our zenith, to be succeeded by the constellation Cygnus—our northern cross. Andromeda and Pegasus, forerunners of winter's gorgeous star groups—Taurus, Orion, Gemini and Leo—are sweeping grandly up from the east into our evening sky. These two constellations—Andromeda and Pegasus—form a group not unlike the Big Dipper, for which they are sometimes mistaken. Pisces and Aquarius, now in view in the east, have no large stars, and consequently are somewhat difficult to pick out. Capricornus, near by, is also composed of small stars, but they are more happily grouped and are easily recognized. The bright first magnitude star Altair, in the constellation Aquila, will be found due north of the two stars at the extreme western end of Capricornus, while the two stars at the easterly end of this group point the way to the first magnitude star, Fomalhaut. See map.

Stars are spoken of by astronomers of the first, second, third, &c., magnitude. The popular impression is that this refers to the size of the star, which is erroneous. It applies to their brilliancy; the actual size and brilliancy of but few stars are known—only about 75. In the most powerful telescope a star is only a point of light, it is not magnified a particle, its brightness alone being accentuated. The stars are all suns like our own great luminary, which, if viewed from a star, would also appear as a mere point of light—a scintillating star, and the earth and our entire planetary could be completely lost to view. So it is not improbable to suppose that these distinct suns have their own planetary systems that we cannot see. Venus will attain its greatest brilliancy on October 25 in the constellation Scorpio, and only a few degrees north of the bright red star Antares, and will then set about half past seven P. M. Saturn is now very finely in constellation Aquarius, and will re-appear in the east by eight P. M. in the main in view nearly all night.

BOAST VERIFIED.

Proved to Doubting Comrades That He Really Was a Mankiller.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Michael Shoemaker, 35, an Austrian laborer, boasted that he was a "mankiller" at Gary, Ill. Four of his countrymen, fellow laborers in a stone quarry, questioned his prowess, and Shoemaker proceeded to stab one of the scoffers to death, slaying another so severely that he will die and put the other two to flight. He gave chase to one of the fugitives, who ran a mile and a half with the enraged man only a few steps behind him. Then Shoemaker fell from exhaustion, while the man pursued ran on to Summit, Ill., and gave the alarm. Shoemaker was brought to Chicago and put in the county jail.

SUPREME BENCH

President Will Not Appoint Judge Until Congress Meets in December.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The president will not make an appointment to fill the vacancy on the bench of the supreme court of the United States until the reassembling of congress in December. Secretary Taft has been offered the position and has had the question of accepting or declining under consideration some time. The president stated that he would gladly appoint Attorney General Moody, who is soon to retire from the cabinet, to the vacancy, but realizes that objection would follow because Massachusetts is already represented on the supreme bench in the person of Justice Holmes.

He said he hoped to make the award of the contract for the Chinese laborers on the proposals recently submitted to the commission in a few days. None of the proposals submitted complied exactly with the specifications, but Shonts said that the differences between the proposals and the requirements offer little trouble to straighten out.
